

Autumn is Great

It is officially fall now. I love fall, especially here in the Northwest. There is a serious nip in the air this time of year. Gone are the balmy 80s of August and here are the 50s and 60s of autumn.

Along with the crisp bite in the air, there is a change of color beginning to show. As October marches on, colors like those in these images from last fall will arrive. It is so beautiful. Among US regions, only New England can boast more brilliant fall foliage than the Pacific Northwest.

On Friday, we got a taste of fall with a series of thunderstorms that dumped hail and buckets of rain. The temp topped out at a mere 57 degrees. Snow fell down to 4000 feet and the high peaks of the Cascades show a fresh mantle of autumn snow. Soon the frosts of fall will engage us as we wake in the morning. Mmm, coffee never tasted so good!

Rudy is Bad News

Rudy Guiliani is in the news as a front runner for the Republicans in the 2008 race for Prez. Rudy is not the genuine article my friends. This is a big city liberal that thinks he can win in America's heartland. Rudy, the drag queen and the anti-gun New Yorker image will not sell west of the Hudson River.

Rudy's one big chance is that he could win California. If Rudy is the Republican nominee, Florida, New York and California are states he could win. I can't express enough how much I want to see Rudy, 'Mister 911 again' Guiliani fade away. Hillary is still way scarier, but only because she's a commie. The fact that Rudy is probably the most likely Republican that could actually win in 2008 has got the party excited. Be careful what you wish for, it might come true! McCain and Romney are better choices

Why Hillary Will Lose

Yes, you read that headline correctly. I think Hillary will lose and I will tell you why in this article.

Hillary Clinton has several things working against her. You may be surprised that the fact that she is a woman is not one of them. I think America is ready for a female president. Hillary is not that female however. Mrs. Clinton carries all of political baggage, most notably, is all of the dirt that arose out of her husband's presidency. Everyone knows that Bill's White House was as corrupt as any other. She can't escape Bill's massive shadow. Hillary is a carpetbagging Senator who has barely 50% approval in her "home" state of New York where she is serving her second term as US Senator.

Hillary is polling favorable with less than 50% of probable female voters. If the women aren't going to vote for her, she's toast. Hillary has as many haters as fans. She is clearly one of the most polarizing Democrats in years. The only reason she has any chance at all is that the Republicans can't ride the coat-tails of George Bush. What coat-tails? This guy is not popular at all. Of course the Democrats in congress aren't fairsing well at all either.

So will she even get the nomination? Oh yes of course she will. The Clinton's will KILL to get it. Besides, Obama is not the real deal. This guy is a left wing Muslim that's still crapping green in his political diapers. So Hillary is the nominee and unless the Republicans completely implode, they will retain the White House in 2008.

Kyle's Football Update

Kyle's Eastside Bulldogs are riding a 2 game winning streak into Sunday's (Yesterday) game against the league leading Jets of Vancouver. Last week they had a road game 20 miles up I-5 in Kalama and demolished the Chinooks 32-0. Because the "mercy" rule was invoked they were punting on first down, just to avoid running the score up anymore and getting the coach suspended for un-sportsmanlike conduct.

Kyle is starting on defense at outside linebacker and is second string on offense at tight end. He needs to work on his tackling technique and could hit harder, but his incredible speed and ability to sneak into the back field and disrupt the offense is making his coach smile. A win would give them a tie for first place in the standings with 4 games to go.

